To Whom It May Concern:

Good morning,

We live at 590 El Granada Blvd., two doors down from the new home at 600 El Granada Blvd. We have gotten to know the owner, Jen Randle, while the house was under construction. The design is beautiful. The house is very well built. We watched it everyday and truthfully if we were to build a house her contractor would be our first choice. We've reviewed the original design and, while we understand that hardie board was the approved siding, we have to say that we especially like the lpe that is featured on both the house and garage. It adds warmth, style as well as interest. The wood really ties the whole design together. Jen has also explained the issue with the custom windows, and we have to say, the difference in the leveling is hardly noticeable from the street. We are amazed at how well the house fits into the neighborhood. We love it and urge the committee to approve any and all of the design modifications.

Thank you.
